Two years ago a revenue officer named Cotton disappeared mysteri-ously. He had just caused the arrest of a man named Dunegan for illicit distilling. James Bryant, a brother-in-law of Dunegan, openly threatened that he would kill Cotton. Little was thought of his threat. One day Bryant, while drunk, told a man that he had kilied Cotton and hidden his body. As day, Bryant, on his death-bed, confessed the deed fully, and prayed for forgiveness. He said he tried to poison Cotton and failed. Exasperated at this, he found him in the woods one day and struck him. blow on the head with a stick, breaking the skull.
